

Post-Copenhagen: Where Next?

What happened at Copenhagen? How does this affect our future? If they won't act what should we do to save the planet?

Speakers:

- Dr Bro Sheffield-Brotherton. Environmental activist, life-member ACF, observer at Copenhagen
- Nic McLelland. Pacific Island researcher, commentator on Copenhagen, lead author of the recent Oxfam report: The Future is Here – climate change in the Pacific

Thursday March 18, 7.30pm

Wyndham Civic Centre,
45 Princes Hwy, Werribee (Mel. 206 B7)

(Was Copenhagen a "step forward", was it a "crime scene" or a "suicide pact"?)

THE

IT'S TIME TO RESTORE A
SAFE CLIMATE

A 10 year social and structural transition to enable the restoration of a safe climate.

The public meeting on Sunday 14th at the Melbourne Town hall was a great success. It launched the 2010 campaign in the presence of a packed Town Hall

PRESENTING THE CASE TO RESTORE A SAFE CLIMATE PROMOTING A SHARED TIME FRAME FOR ACTION
DEMONSTRATING THE POWER OF COLLABORATION

The Task now is to take action locally, regionally and nationally. Come to the Post-Copenhagen meeting for further information about plans for the Western Suburbs.

For more information see <http://www.t10.net.au/> or <http://www.facebook.com/pages/Western-Region-Environment-Centre/207642155358>

Helping the Movement Grow

There are many organisations concerned about the environment and sustainability in the western suburbs.

If you want to help save the planet then please join and assist these groups. Volunteers are urgently needed.

Whether your skills are in communicating, finances, web and IT management or simply answering phones and discussing plans, there is an important role for you.

To become involved phone 9731 0288 or email us: wrec@envirowest.org.au

Western Environment web site:

Keep up with events at the WREC Facebook site: <http://www.facebook.com/pages/Western-Region-Environment-Centre/207642155358>

The WREC website is currently undergoing 'renovation' because it hasn't been updated for 2 years! (see www.envirowest.org.au).

Reducing your EcoFootprint

We will be conducting workshops and discussions in several suburbs in the west during the year. These workshops will assist people wanting to increase their family's sustainability. Practical proposals will be presented by trainers in Household Sustainability and in Shoestring Gardening.

For further information or to assist with organising in your locality, call WREC on 9731 0288 or email wrec@envirowest.org.au.

Future Films

We intend to run films throughout this year. These will include such films as "The Cove", "A Sea Change- Imagine a World Without Fish", "Food, Inc.", "Who Killed the Electric Car?", and many more. Some of these will be screened in theatres, others in community venues (to reduce costs).

If you aren't already on our mailing list and wish to be notified about when and where the screenings will be send us an email: wrec@envirowest.org.au

Sustainable Christmas Fair 2010

- Instead of buying presents we don't need or want,
- Instead of the gadgets and the toys that run out of interest (and batteries) in a few weeks
- Instead of wasteful packaging

Promote a Sustainable Christmas by:

- Giving to those most in need
- Making presents for your loved ones – and showing that you care

The inaugural Wyndhamvale Sustainable Christmas Fair in 2009 was a great success. The 2010 Sustainable Christmas Fair will be even better. Start thinking now how you can create a sustainable Christmas season. For present-making ideas and activities, Oxfam presents for those most in need, fun activities, food and sustainable products you need to start now – for help with your events give us a call on 9731 0288 or email wrec@envirowest.org.au.
